About Dreta de l'Eixample

Dreta de l'Eixample, also known as the "Golden Square", is Barcelona's most traditional and central neighborhood. It is home to some of the city's most iconic landmarks, such as Plaça de Catalunya, Passeig de Gràcia, and a remarkable collection of modernist and neoclassical architecture that represents the cultural heritage of the city.

Stretching from Balmes Street to Passeig de Sant Joan, the neighborhood was developed by Catalonia's bourgeoisie, who built grand buildings that still exude elegance and prestige. Today, Dreta de l'Eixample is recognized as one of Barcelona's areas with the highest per capita income, hosting residents with high purchasing power.
